RESPONSIBLE LUXURY

Media Pack

2020

LUX is the world's market-leading luxury publication, renowned for its aesthetic, commitment to art, innovative partnerships and responsible ethos.

LUX creates intelligent and aesthetically striking visual and narrative stories about brands, trends and people within the environment of the world's most prominent art, culture and luxury magazine.

LUX is the only editorial magazine created for the global UHNW market. We are storytellers, editors and creatives, and we have the trust of our readers through our informed and intelligent content. LUX readers are influential global UHNW individuals and LUX is their world. LUX is owned and edited by Darius Sanai, an Editor-in-Chief at Condé Nast International, who has launched and edited more than 30 magazines, most recently Vogue Hong Kong. Underlining our authority and insight, our contributing editors include Johnny Hon, Simon De Pury, Jean Claude Biver, Cindy Chua, Stefania Angelini, Gauhar Kapparova as Editor-at-Large and Vicky Xu as Asia Editor.

The LUX philosophy of Responsible Luxury applies to the way we approach coverage, inform our readers, and create a visual showcase that is also a cultural icon, an object of beauty, and a serious format for intellectual enlightenment.

Partnerships

LUX works with suitable partners to create editorial content within the magazine and online.

Partner content is created by our editorial team and runs seamlessly along the rest of our editorial.

Partnerships typically involve LUX creating between 4 and 16 pages of bespoke content per issue. These are magazine features, stories built together around partners' key messages, which are editorial, not advertorial, in tone. All content also appears on the LUX website, where we can also run more newsworthy updates on partners' stories. Partners benefit from LUX's brand, reach, and distribution: a formidable partnership with one of the world's most respected media luxury brands, telling their stories on our pages. We also work closely with an exquisite social media partner to offer, as an option, suitable influencer amplification of our beautiful messages.

Partnership rates on request.
